Keynote: Why Leaders Fail and the 7 Prescriptions for Success
Monday, October 7th | 9:15 AM - 10:45 AM

Many good people, when they rise to leadership positions, fail. Good leadership seems easy in theory but actually living, executing, and fostering strong, effective leadership in corporations and organizations is tough. How can we ensure success? What do successful leaders do differently? What are the surprisingly common mistakes that many leaders unknowingly make that derail their success? Using current data and case studies collected through years of corporate and military leadership, you’ll learn why so many leaders fail, and how to avoid the hidden pitfalls. Leadership is most critical during times of crisis. Leadership happens when things are tough and there are problems to solve. Why Leaders Fail shows attendees how to be even better leaders.

Mike Staver
Closing Keynote: Wellness Isn’t for Cowards
Wednesday, October 9th | 8:30 AM - 10:00 AM

We live in an age when it is more and more challenging to manage all of the information, demands and challenges that are coming at us. It takes real courage to stand firm in what you believe and then to get your followers to understand what really matters and how to execute effectively. How is a leader supposed to manage all they have to deal with and keep themselves vital and well? Often, people find themselves working themselves to distraction and believe that a trip to the gym is having sufficient impact. But what if there was more to leading than just getting the job done? In this session you will discover the answer to that question!

EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOPS

Mark Dancer
Facing the Forces of Change®:
Scenario Planning for Distributors
Tuesday, October 8th | 8:30 AM - 10:00 AM

Great movements start with a shared purpose, and there is evidence that a movement is percolating in wholesale distribution. Leaders are rising to fight disruption by becoming innovators of business services and customer experiences. Scenario planning can play a vital role in helping distributors break free from traditional leadership mindsets, supplier partnership precedents, and customer willingness to pay. In this education session, Mark Dancer will provide a preview of findings and recommendations from three scenario analysis chapters from the next Facing the Forces of Change® report and introduce a scenario planning process designed for use by distributors. Scenarios discussed include embracing virtual markets, revitalizing the value chain, and leading a real-world renaissance.

Strategies for Increasing Gross Margins
Tuesday, October 8th | 10:30 AM – 12:00 PM

Every business is faced with a very important question: How much do we get to keep out of every sales dollar? We also know that there are tremendous downward pressures on gross margins. Business leaders need to have a specific set of actions designed to increase gross margins, in place, at all times. The goal is for each participant to leave the session with a handful of take-aways that can be “ruthlessly” implemented when you get back to work. The problem is not simple—and there is not a simple quick fix; but there are proven strategies that will help you to avoid really gross—gross margins.

ISD EMERGING LEADERS & FPDA YOUNG EXECUTIVES WORKSHOP

Mary Kelly, PhD, CSP, Commander, US Navy (ret)
Top Secret Leadership
Monday, October 7th | 11:00 AM – 12:00 PM
For attendees who are members of the ISD ELI and FPDA YES communities

From a former Naval intelligence officer, learn the secrets of military leadership and apply them to your organization. Getting people to work together is challenging. Office tension, competition, gossip, personal agendas, and pettiness reduce morale and productivity. How does the military get people to work together? How do they get intense commitment from their people? What is the military doing that civilian organizations can copy? Do you ever wonder how the military recruits people from all walks of life and coalesces them into cooperative, fighting teams? Find out how you can use military approaches to enhance communication and teamwork, develop integration, and facilitate a positive work environment.

Are You Sure You Know What Your Customers Really Care About?
Tuesday, October 8th | 8:30 AM - 9:15 AM

Almost all of the buzz in the business world is about the importance of price in every competitive situation. But think about this question: How many of my suppliers do I switch every year, simply to save a few dollars? Most decisions to switch suppliers are more complex—and have several reasons at their base. In this discussion, we will focus on the “chain” that links us to the end user. Good sales strategy requires a better understanding of what our customers (and prospects) really want.

Andrew Johnson
A Practical Approach to Innovation – Theories into Reality
Tuesday, October 8th | 9:15 AM – 10:00 AM

Andrew Johnson, CEO of ShelfAware, will explore several use cases that illustrate entry level innovations in process automation, the Internet of Things (IoT), and business optimization. His presentation will include demos of hardware and software to bring these high-tech theories into reality, showing attendees how they can create value-added systems.

Facing the Forces of Change®: Can Distributors Innovate to Dominate?
Tuesday, October 8th | 10:30 AM – 11:15 AM

The primary goal of the next edition of Facing the Forces of Change® is to help distributors “connect the dots” between the forces of change and creating game-changing business innovations. Our research found that distributors are not participating in world-class innovation forums, nor are they aware of (or applying) the innovation best practices in their business. Disruptors are heavy users of innovation methodologies while distributors are focused on continuous improvement, which is mostly getting better at being a traditional distributor. The result is that distributors are fighting with one arm tied behind their back. In this session, Mark Dancer will share business innovation practices and stories from distributors that are leading the charge not just to survive but dominate through innovation.
